Who Am I

I'm a city girl from Johannesburg, who's chasing her dreams, a lover of simple things who likes to share so much that I sometimes overshare. I splurge on food, homeware and experiences.

I am a small business owner, a mom, a wife, a muslim. I love to travel and explore cities like a local. I love to eat, cook and bake. I choose cars and shoes because they always fit. I am a strong believer in keeping it real and authentic.

Give me tea over coffee, chocolate over vanilla, colour over monochrome. Biscuits should be dunked.

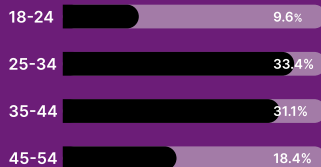

I'm a leap year kid who thinks celebrations should be 4-times as large since it only happens every 4 years. I am sensitive but confident. I talk too much. I am always ready for pictures.

I'm not perfectly curated, just perfectly imperfect.

Let's work together...

I have had the opportunity to team up with some incredible brands and businesses both big and small. It's the most satisfying feeling when a great collaboration occurs.

To get your product or service lined up for a collaboration, please email: pr@fehzmz.com and include what you envision for the collaboration.

I can't wait to hear what your vision for this collaboration would be and how our styles can work together to give you the best exposure possible. I sure hope we can do something amazing together! And, most of all, I am just thankful that you saw something inside of me that had you reach out and want to work with me.

Now, let's do this!
